ARE PREPARING FOR MINING OPERATIONS IN THIRD POOL

Old Iron City Mine Being Re-Opened by Monessen Coal and Coke Co.

RUN BY RAIL AND RIVER

A permit has been granted to the Monessen Coal and Coke Company, by the United States government, to reconstruct a coal tippie and repair and maintain an existing ice breaker on the right bank of the Monongahela river, in pool No. Three, a short distance below Monessen.

Work of re-opening this mine is now under way, and is being pushed as fast as it is possible to do so. The interior of the mine is practically ready for operations now, but the production of coal will be delayed until the outside improvements have been made, which will be some time this coming fall. A river and railroad tippie will be erected, thus giving the mine facilities for shipping either by rail or river. The equipment will be modern in every respect, which will permit of the production of a large tonnage every day the mine is in operation.

Timber and lumber for the structural work are now on the ground, and construction will be pushed with vigor, now that the necessary government permit has been obtained to go ahead with the river improvements, which will include a modern tippie as well as a big ice breaker.

This mine was formerly known as the Iron City, and was originally opened by Phillips & Mitzenzwei about fifty years ago. During a big freshet in the Monongahela the tippie was carried away, and for many years it remained idle, being reopened in 1900, and operated for a short time, when it was taken over by the Pittsburgh Steel Company interests, which will now operate it under the name of the Monessen Coal and Coke company.

AUGUST TERM CRIMINAL COURT ENDED THURSDAY

MORE MEN MAY BE CALLED BY BOARD

The examining physicians of the Fifth District concluded their labors Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the last of the men summoned for physical examination were disposed of. Of the 500 men called, 80 answered the summons. Out of this number about 20 per cent were rejected on account of physical disabilities, but how many will be exempted for other reasons the board can't say. Only an examination of the papers will reveal the number.

Of the 500 men summoned during the week about 400 presented themselves for examination, at least 20 per cent failing to respond to the summons. On Tuesday approximately 175 men were examined, and the physical defects found among this number was very discouraging to the physicians. At one stage of the proceedings six men, one after the other, were rejected because of defective vision. And these men were not from any one locality, but were taken from different parts of the district. Wednesday, the day of improvement in physical qualifications, while on Thursday the men examined were away ahead of those of the previous days.

The board, however, does not expect to obtain the quota from the additional men examined. The recent ruling of the President as to married men will cut down the number from those examined this week. This fact will make it necessary to call other men for examination, and the work of securing the quota from the district may be longer delayed than anticipated.

WERE RECIPIENTS OF SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY

Company A, Tenth Regiment, of Pennsylvania, on the way south on the Seaboard Air Line, to Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., passed through Southern Pines, N. C. At that place the citizens were out to meet them in force, not only to give them a rousing welcome, but likewise to give them of more substantial things—in fact to extend them a sample of southern hospitality. When the train stopped for a short few minutes in that beautiful southern city it was long enough for the citizens of the town to make a most generous contribution of watermelons, which were greatly appreciated by the boys, who were then on their second day's journey southward from their northern homes.

That the hospitality and the gift of the people was sincerely appreciated by Capt Hartland and his men is shown by the following note, which the Captain addressed to the Mayor of the City; and which was published in the Sandhill Citizen of that city:

Entrain, August 22, 1917.
Mayor of Southern Pines: Captain Edward W. Hartland wishes to extend to the Mayor and citizens of Southern Pines his sincere thanks for the generous donation of watermelons which were received by this command when the train stopped a few minutes at your beautiful city. The command is enroute for Augusta, Ga., and the hospitality extended by your people will long be remembered.

Edward W. Hartland, Captain, 10th Pa. Inf., commanding train.

GIVEN FEDERAL PERMIT TO REBUILD ICE BREAKERS

The Naam Coal company, which mines a short distance below Fayette City, has been given a government permit to reconstruct an ice breaker on the right bank of the Monongahela river. The Naam Coal company runs considerable coal by river, and the ice breaker is for the protection of the tippie as well as the safety of fleets.

KNITTING PARTY FOR RED CROSS

Will Tend to Increase Amount of Knit Goods for Local Chapter

WAS A PLEASANT OCCASION

Mrs. J. W. Mathias introduced an innovation in Charleroi Thursday evening, when she gave a knitting party at her home on Washington avenue, in the interest of the Red Cross movement for woolen goods. Mrs. Mathias had invited the ladies of the Christian church to meet at her home, presumably for a social affair, but when the guests arrived they found the hostess had provided a large consignment of yarn and an abundance of needles, and everything in readiness for a practical lesson in knitting. Mrs. Andrew Murray, one of the expert knitters who devotes considerable of her time to the knitting rooms in the Stahlman building, was present as instructress and under her direction a number of the ladies were given their first lesson in knitting. In addition, Miss Minnie Richardson, who was present, addressed the ladies on the absolute needs of the Red Cross for knit goods, and of the necessity of every woman in Charleroi doing her "bit" in some way, either by knitting or sewing. The speaker told of the activities of the Charleroi Chapter; that they had already completed between 2500 and 3000 articles for Red Cross hospitals most of which had been shipped. Of this great number of articles, all of them had been accepted and the work of the local chapter highly commended, which is a record, said the speaker, to be proud of.

The instructions given by Mrs. Murray and the information imparted by Miss Richardson seemed to enthrall the guests, and all of them entered into the plans of their hostess most heartily, and while the knitting went somewhat slowly, due to the fact that it was new to many of them, yet the prospects are excellent for a devoted band of workers for the Red Cross. Music was a diversion of the evening, and refreshments served by the hostess further added to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Waterways to Be Surveyed with View to Increase Shipments

GREAT PROGRAM IS OUTLINED

The Monongahela river may profit by a plan which the Department of Commerce and the United States Engineers are now working out. The plan will provide for the development of the traffic facilities on the inland waterways of the country, including all the rivers and canals over which commerce is now being transported.

One of the important features of the scheme, which will incidentally bring about a revival of river traffic on a scale never attempted before by government or private interests, will be the construction of a great fleet of steel and wooden barges. The work will be taken up as soon as the commandeering and ship construction programs are under way, possibly within two weeks.

Details of the plans were discussed by government officials on Thursday, and it became known later that the program would be an extensive one and that none of the great waterways of the country would be overlooked.

As a preliminary step a survey of the country will be made to determine the existing capacity of the rivers and canals and the needs of various sections. It is probable the government will build and charter barges, but these details have not been decided.

The Mississippi will be one of the great rivers which will be developed and the great Shipping Board hopes to increase transportation on that and other rivers to a market never before dreamed of.

In this survey the Monongahela will undoubtedly come in for a great deal of attention. The millions of tons of coal already transported over it is being increased steadily, and no doubt the government officials will devote considerable time to the study of its conditions with a view of increasing traffic over this already highly developed waterway.

LOCAL BOY SAYS WAR WILL SOON BE OVER

George Vetter, now with the Fifth Engineers in France, writes to his parents in Charleroi of some of the conditions which the men in that regiment are experiencing. The letter is addressed to his mother, written from "somewhere in France," posted at the U. S. Army Post Office Station No. 2, and was "censored," although nothing apparently was disapproved of by the officials. He says: "Here we are, many miles from home, but nicely located in camp. I have been very lucky. I was selected as a member of a surveying corps, and we have things pretty nice. Please tell Papa and 'Bill' to send me about $10 worth of Camel cigarettes, as

OPTIMISTIC FEELING.

It is an optimistic time of the life of a Charle-roi boy now serving with the Fifth Reserve Engineers in France, when he tells his mother to keep up her hopes, "as it looks as if this war will soon be over, and we will come through with flying colors." Other soldiers writing from France express the same sentiments, and being on the ground, the views of the soldiers are worth considering. At least they all appear to be of the opinion that there is no other outcome possible than the defeat of the Germans. In this respect the New York Tribune says:

"As the fourth year of the war begins, the steady recoil of the German line in France is paucity; the superiority of the allies is demonstrated in the ever-growing number of important places captured; the supremacy of allied artillery and of allied tactics is revealed in the contrast between the German failure at Verdun and the successes of the allies at the Somme and elsewhere. The German soldier stands on a constantly receding line, exposed to artillery fire several times stronger than that of his own guns; he is condemned to see his effective melt away because he is outnumbered and out-gunned, and he has begun to surrender in numbers which would be impressive in any war except the present, and are already beginning to be significant in this contest involving the manhood of all nations."

A FITTING FAREWELL

In many districts farewell demonstrations are being arranged for the men who have been selected for the new National Army on the occasion of their departure for the various assignments to which they have been assigned. The demonstrations, of necessity, will take place in the towns in which the exemption boards have their headquarters, for the men are required to mobilize at such points prior to being entrained for the various camps.

These farewells are very proper, and should be of such a character as to let the men know that the people who remain at home appreciate the sacrifices they are making in accepting service and undergoing the hardships incidental to a soldier's life.

The boys who go to the front are entitled to every consideration. They are making sacrifices, and are willing to jeopardize everything they possess to serve their country. The First District of Washington county would well follow in the lead of other communities and give the boys who are to be called from this district a farewell in keeping with the occasion.

THE ROUNDHEADS.

The survivors of the One Hundredth Pennsylvania Regiment, ((Round-heads)) held their annual reunion at Ellwood City on Wednesday. This regiment was recruited in Lawrence, Washington and Allegheny counties, and it is said to have been named by Gen. Winfield Scott at the time of its organization. Many of the forefathers of the men who composed the Roundheads were Covenanters, while Simon Cameron, at that time Secretary of War, and under whose administration the regiment was formed, prided himself on being a descendant of the old English Round-heads.

The regiment took part in the evacuation of Charleston, and bore the hardest part of the fighting at the second battle of Bull Run. It also participated in the battles of Annamtown and South Mountain. Later it was transferred to the army under Gen. Grant, and took part in the siege of Vicksburg. It took part in the campaigns in East Tennessee, and wound up its brilliant service as a part of the Army of the Potomac, taking part in the fall of Petersburg, which was the last action in which it participated.

The Roundheads, like other regiments which took part in the war for the Union, had a splendid record. Its ranks were filled by men from every walk of life—the same kind of men as those who are today giving up their peaceful occupations to fight the battles of their country, that the world may be made safe for democracy. The Roundheads were great in their day, but no better than the boys of today will be who serve in France.

The "new Bryan" is reported to be employing his eloquence and influence on the Chautauqua circuit in the support of the Administration in the conduct of the war, thus teaching less level-headed pacifists a needed lesson. "No sympathy," Mr. Bryan is quoted, "will be wasted upon those who have been arrested for unpatriotic utterances. They abuse free speech, and this applies to attacks upon the Allies as well as to attacks upon the United States." Mr. Bryan's extreme desire to preserve peace led him into serious blunders, but he is an American and knows where he should stand when his country is at war.

When truth telling once more becomes respectable and therefore possible in Germany the Cologne Gazette may avoid such mendacious assertions as that "the Wilson export regulations represent an illegal action unique in the history of the civilized world." Unique! One lie leads to another, and doubtless this German editor would hold that we were not civilized when President Thomas Jefferson put in force an embargo act a hundred years ago, and contend that the other modern nations that have done the like were all semi-barbarians.

Some of our troops in France astonished the natives when they gave their hours of recreation to base ball, a seeming frivolous waste of strength. But the French instructors in bomb and hand-grenade throwing discovered usefulness in the game when they found that our ball players were surprisingly apt both in hurling the bombs far and in sending them to the spot.

With a horizontal reduction in the price of coal, the housekeeper expectantly awaits the day when a similar fate will overtake the price of foodstuffs. In the meantime the food speculator seems to be able to impress the fact of his existence three times daily on the table of the consumer.

Mexico is very quiet, not a ripple having been caused by the Kaiser's conditional offer to return her "lost provinces" now embracing half dozen of our largest American States. After all, the Mexicans are more level-headed than some of us supposed. They have wasted no time dreaming fool dreams.

It has long been known that the people of Alsace-Lorraine would vote a return to the mother country of France. Obviously the French would gladly agree to a settlement through a plebiscite while the Germans would agree only under compulsion, being as ready to cede the territory to France and have done with it.

A German paper has called on the Berlin government to "deny boldly and stoutly" any further embarrassing disclosures made by ex-Ambassador Gerard. This well established policy miscarried in just one instance.

According to a Chicago dispatch, "the packers have 300,000,000 pounds of meat in cold storage and every increase in price means tremendous profits." Wonder if Mr. Hoover contemplates a round of cold storage calls.

The "International" Socialist conference ought to be held in a German city, the movement being entirely Teutonic in control and aim.

Stronger Men Take the Lead

THEY HAVE NERVES OF IRON AND REAL RED FIGHTING BLOOD

Vital force is the material from which leaders in all walks of life are made. It is well worth getting and holding.

The health and nerve of the athlete is what Nature intended every man and woman to have.

The red blood of an athlete is pure and red, a strong heart pumps and drives it through his body. No wonder that every inch of his system is filled with energy and health, his nerves like iron, spirits high, hard tasks a pleasure and life one song of joy.

A leading Doctor says, "Everyone should feel this way. That if you are not red blooded, are nervous, all run down and on your last legs, for you to build up your blood and nerves with exercise, fresh air, nourishing food and Nature's great prescription Phosphated Iron a real blood and nerve builder."

Then you will be there with vim and push to easily do the work that you now do on your nerves alone.

He also says, "Phosphated Iron feeds the blood cells with iron and nerve force, and that leading specialists are now using it successfully all over the country, that it has sprung into almost instant popularity with the better class of doctors as one of the few remedies they can depend on to produce results."

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets." W. F. Hennings and leading druggists everywhere.

"BOYS WANT IT AT BARRACKS," AVERS MARINE

Had Contracted Malaria at Vera Cruz—Tanlac Fixed Him Up.

"Boys want it," declared William Hewitt, U. S. Marine, Philadelphia Navy Yard, recently.

"Tanlac won the boys at the barracks because they know how it pulled me through," he continued.

"When I got to New Orleans from Vera Cruz my system was filled with tropical malaria. I was only a shadow of myself. My appetite was gone, and I had headache and backache; was pale as a ghost. Some said I had anemia—blood turning to water. I'd feel a little better one day and the next worse than ever. Just up and down. Malarial poison sapped all my strength. I was so weak I staggered. 'I got a big surprise—found Tanlac! That got me, for a comrade urged me to try it at New Orleans. Now, I was good and ready.

"A man's appetite surely rules his health. I couldn't get enough to eat. That broke the sick spell. I could see myself 'picking up', and the color coming back into my face. Tanlac made my system so strong it threw off the malaria, and now my health is as good as the day I enlisted in the U. S. Navy. Isn't that saying something?"

Tanlac is sold here by Piper's Pharmacy.

BIG SPEED EVENTS AT UNIONTOWN

One of the particularly interesting events at the Uniontown Speedway on Monday next, will be the aeroplane flight to be given by DeLloyd Thompson, considered the premier American aviator. Of course there will be a splendid program at the Speedway, three of the most prominent of the Pacific coast drivers having entered for the Army and Navy Sweepstakes. They are Omar Toft, driving the Omar car; A. A. Caldwell, driving a Miller special; and Ora F. Halbe, who will drive a P. A. L. C. car. None of these drivers have ever appeared on the Uniontown Speedway before, and interest of many of the racing fans will naturally center in their efforts to carry away the trophies. Toft was a former pal and racing companion of Hughey Hughes, who was killed at the Uniontown Speedway last year.

Barney Oldfield, who will drive his Golden submarine, is one of the entrants, and wherever Barney appears there is sure to be some racing. Many other leading lights in the auto racing game have been entered for the various contests, and the program as a whole presents some of the finest devotees of the game before the public today. Uniontown promises to be a mecca for thousands of people on Monday, called there by the racing events, the aeroplane flights as well as a big labor demonstration.

RAILROADS FACE A BIG PROBLEM

The railroads of the country will be taxed to their utmost capacity next month to transport the drafted men to their various cantonments, carrying visitors to the numerous state and county fairs, as well as handling the regular passenger traffic. The troop movements will be given precedence even if it is necessary to forgo special trains which in former years have been run to accommodate those attending state and county fairs.

The railroads say that in places it may be impossible on certain days next month to maintain the regular passenger service. To move merely a field army of 80,000 men requires 6,229 cars, meaning 366 trains and train crews and 366 engines. In addition to moving the 687,000 conscripted men the railroads next month expect to transport 350,000 men of the National Guard to their training camps.

This transportation problem is going to tax the capacity of the railroads, and in order to carry the large number of men in the various units it will require that every available passenger car be placed in service. This will mean the substitution on many divisions of the old style wooden car for the steel cars, which will more than likely be used for the benefit of the soldiers.

the "smokes" in this country are no good. All the balance of the Company have left us, but we are still in the main camp, which makes it very nice. The Captain of our Company is my boss, and he is surely a fine man. I never worked for a finer man than he is.

Mother, keep up your hopes, as it looks as if this war will be over soon, and we are going to come out with flying colors.

The conditions over here are not as bad as they think they are in the States. There seems to be plenty of food where we are. They have a lot of German prisoners near where we are camping, but they appear to be happy as captives. Tell Papa to name the street he was born on in Berlin.

Lovingly,
George.

WILL FURNISH MUSIC FOR INDIANA CO. FAIR

John Jenkins orchestra of nine pieces will furnish the music for the racing events at the Inter-State fair at Indiana, Pa., next week. The dates of the fair are September 5, 6 and 7, on all of which days the Jenkins orchestra will be there. The orchestra will leave Charleroi for Indiana next Wednesday morning.

People of the Virgin Islands.
It is said that between 80 and 90 per cent of the people of the Virgin Islands, formerly the Danish West Indies, are pure black. The rest of them are white. There are very few mulattoes for the race line is more sharply drawn than in the other islands of the West Indies. The islands pride themselves on their low percentage of intermixture. Only about 2 per cent of the inhabitants are unable to read and write. In spite of their proximity, there is a great difference between the Virgin Islands and Porto Rico. The inhabitants of the former are almost entirely English in their speech and customs, while those of Porto Rico are Spanish. The island of St. Thomas is peculiarly agricultural. Fishing is the chief occupation, and most of the fish is consumed at home. Ninety per cent of the population is in the towns. Grazing is the chief agricultural industry. Five men are reported to own the entire island outside of the towns.—New York Post.

The Valkyrie of the Piano.
Teresa Carreno was an extraordinary artist, and the appellation commonly linked with her name failed to do justice to the softer, gentler, more intimate aspects of her art. She was one of the few musical artists of South America who have satisfied the critical standards of Europe and the United States, which demand a patient submission to drudgery on the part of genius itself. Mme. Carreno, a native of Venezuela and composer of the national anthem of that country, was of very meek and retiring disposition, and her temper was quickly mobilized on occasion. But her playing was electric and inspiring and never humdrum. Her picturesque and fiery personality would have made her an outstanding figure in any gathering without the voice of the piano to speak for her.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Why Women Talk.
Men are downtown at their offices all day and have a chance to talk. The women have to stay at home, and with the exception of the milkman, the grocery man, the ice man, the old clothes man, a few miscellaneous peddlers and hucksters and the woman next door, there is nobody to talk to. That is why wife talks her husband's head off when he comes home at night. Husbands who, through long years of experience, have grown accustomed to this merely answer "hm-hm-hm" with out hearing. Sometimes the wife will catch them unawares and between remarks will insert a request for $10 to buy a new dress with. If the husband from force of habit, answers "hm-hm-hm," the wife, of course, gets the gown.—Zim in Cartoons Magazine.

Battles in the Mud.
The "wilderness of mud," as Sir Douglas Haig called it, that bothered the troops at the battle of the Somme was not quite so bad as that which provoked Napoleon's famous jest that Poland had revealed mud to him as a new element. It is reported that some of his guns absolutely disappeared in the clayey mire, and Marbot says that several men and horses were actually drowned in the mud. The utmost that infantry could cover with infinite labor was one and a quarter miles an hour, and docile and quadruple teams could not enable the guns to keep up with them. When Marbot returned to Silesia with Augereau, both being wounded, their carriage was drawn at a walk by twelve and sometimes sixteen horses.

Once the Home of Pirates.
Margarita, the mountainous island off the coast of Venezuela, has a reputation that ill matches its pleasing name. It was discovered by Columbus in 1498 and got its name from its pearl fisheries, for the Spanish word for pearl is the old Greek margarites. For generations it was the headquarters of the pirates—and especially of the slave traders—of the Spanish Main and the prison of slaves who were awaiting transportation.

Etiquette.
Originally the word etiquette meant a ticket, label or slip of paper attached to a bag or object to indicate its contents. It then came to be used of a ticket given to a person taking part in a ceremony to tell him what he should do; hence the modern meaning.

MOTHER SAID TRY IT

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Copner after Doctor's Failed.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I want you to know the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was in such bad health from female troubles that I could hardly get off my bed. I had been doctoring for a long time and my mother said, 'I want you to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I did, and it has certainly made me a well woman. I am able to do my house work and am so happy as I never expected to go around the way I do again, and I want others to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. JOSIE COPNER, 1663 Harrison Ave., Fairmount, Cincinnati, Ohio.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from choice roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

GARDEN COLUMN

By National Emergency Food Garden Commission

Exhibit of Canned Goods.

"Every pound of vegetables properly put up for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory."—President Wilson.

Potato bread will not be an infrequent item on the bill-of-fare this winter as a result of the unusually large potato crop, says today's bulletin of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, with which this paper is co-operating in a nation-wide food conservation campaign. Potato bread is appetizing and its nutritive value is practically the same as bread.

For four 1-p. and loaves—straight dough method—the following ingredients are required: Three pounds of boiled and peeled potatoes; 2 1-4 pounds of good bread flour; 3 level tablespoonfuls of sugar; 1 1-2 level tablespoonfuls of salt; 2 cakes of compressed yeast; 4 tablespoonfuls of lukewarm water.

Wash thoroughly and boil in their skins about 12 potatoes of medium size. Cook them until they are very tender. Drain, peel and mash them while hot, being careful not to leave any lumps. Allow mashed potato to cool until lukewarm. To 3 pounds (5 solidly packed 1-2 pint cups) of mashed potato add the yeast, which has been rubbed smooth in a cup with 3 tablespoonfuls of lukewarm water. To get all the yeast, rinse the cap with the remaining tablespoonful of water and add this also to the potato. Next add the salt, the sugar, about 4 ounces of flour (1 scant half-pint of sifted flour). Mix well with the hand, but do not add any more water at this stage.

Cover the mixing bowl and place in a moderately warm place, but not up to blood heat. This sponge if kept at the proper temperature should after two hours become quite light. To this well-risen sponge add the remainder of the flour, kneading until a smooth and elastic dough has been formed. Do not add water to the dough unless it is absolutely necessary to work in the flour. Set the dough back until it has trebled its size, which will require another hour or two. When this has been done, divide the dough into four equal parts, mold into loaves and place in greased pans. When the molds have doubled in volume, place in the oven and bake in a good, steady heat (400 to 425 degrees F.) for 45 minutes.

CHARTER STEAMER TO ASSIST IN TOWING TRADE

The steamer Iron City, owned by the Iron City Sand company, has been chartered by the Vesta Coal company to assist in the pools in towing empty and loaded barges. The work of the Vesta company has increased greatly during the summer, and the absence of the steamer Aliquippa, now on the docks for repairs, has been keenly felt.

MRS. CLARA KING, Dalzell, Ohio.

Now note what J. W. Farley, of Marietta said very recently:

"I have suffered greatly with stomach trouble and nervousness for some time. After taking one bottle of Nerv-Worth I feel greatly improved. I WOULD ADVISE ALL SUFFERERS TO TRY A BOTTLE OF NERV-WORTH."
